

CONNECTING CRITICAL PEDAGOGIES, INCLUSIVE ART FORMS AND ALTERNATIVE BAROMETERS FOR URBAN SUSTAINABILITY (CIRCUL'ARTS)

Cost Action: CA23117
STATION # 1

CIRCUL'ARTS is a COST ACTION gathering researchers and practitioners in a network that will focus, overall for 4 years (2024-2028), on enabling and empowering the public, thanks to the facilitation of art processes as modes of expression and exchange, to translate what they mean by 'circularity and sustainability' in urban settings. In this networking, we see these as a set of practices that involve not only the sharing of material resources, but more significantly, the transmission of immaterial knowledge and know-how—such as historical memory, vernacular solutions, practices of solidarity, and community-building. By investigating different ways to approach circularity and sustainability (with an accent on the Latin American and African contexts), participatory and genuine narratives emerge, that can induce a practical socio-ecological transition.
